Martin Luther on the Coronavirus

The Novel Coronavirus center is in Wuhan, China. Fear has spread there and around the world as the number of deaths and those afflicted continue to rise daily.

Early on, many sought to flee. Exits from the area around Wuhan have now been closed down. But are followers of Jesus right to flee an epidemic when people are suffering and dying? In the 16th century, German Christians asked theologian Martin Luther for a response to this very question.

In 1527, less than 200 years after the Black Death killed about half the population of Europe, the plague re-emerged in Luther's own town of Wittenberg and neighboring cities. In his letter, "Whether One May Flee from a Deadly Plague," the reformer weighs the responsibilities of ordinary citizens during contagion. His advice serves as a practical guide for Christians confronting infectious disease outbreaks today.

First, Luther argued that anyone who stands in a relationship of service to another has a vocational commitment not to flee. Those in ministry, he wrote, "must remain steadfast before the peril of death." The sick and dying need a good shepherd who will strengthen and comfort them and administer the sacraments—lest they be denied the Eucharist before their passing. Public officials, including mayors and judges, are to stay and maintain civic order. Public servants, including city-sponsored physicians and police officers, must continue their professional duties. Even parents and guardians have vocational duties toward their children.

Luther did not limit tending the sick to health care professionals. In a time when Wuhan faces a shortage of hospital beds and personnel, his counsel is especially relevant. The city, one of China's largest with a population of about 11 million, is in the process of rapidly constructing two new hospitals to accommodate growing crowds of coronavirus patients. Lay citizens, without any medical training, may find themselves in a position of providing care to the sick. Luther challenges Christians to see opportunities to tend to the sick as tending to Christ himself (Matt. 25:41-46). Out of love for God emerges the practice of love for neighbor.

But Luther does not encourage his readers to expose themselves recklessly to danger. His letter constantly straddles two competing goods: honoring the sanctity of one's own life, and honoring the sanctity of those in need. Luther makes it clear that God gives humans a tendency toward self-protection and trusts that they will take care of their bodies (Eph. 5:29; 1 Cor. 12:21-26). He defends public health measures such as quarantines and seeking medical attention when available. In fact, Luther proposes that not to do so is to act recklessly. Just as God has gifted humans with their bodies, so too he has gifted the medicines of the earth.

What if a Christian still desires to flee? Luther affirms that this may, in fact, be the believer's faithful response, provided that no emergency exists and that they arrange substitutes who will "take care of the sick in their stead and nurse them." Notably, Luther also reminds readers that salvation is independent of these good works. He ultimately tasks them to decide whether to flee or to stay during plagues, trusting that they will arrive at a faithful decision through prayer and meditation on the Scriptures. Participation in aiding the sick arises out of grace, not obligation.

However, Luther himself was not afraid. Despite the exhortations of his university colleagues, he stayed behind to minister to the sick and dying. He urged his readers not to be afraid of "some small boils"—in the service of neighbors. (Continued on page 2)

Worship News

(Continued from page 1) Though God's children face earthly sufferings, those who proclaim faith in Christ share in a heavenly promise of freedom from illness and suffering. In an open letter calling for prayer from Christians around the globe, an anonymous Wuhan pastor affirms "[Christ's] peace is not to remove us from disaster and death, but rather to have peace in the midst of disaster and death, because Christ has already overcome these things." Both Luther and the Wuhan pastor express the reality of suffering but recognize that death and suffering do not have the final word.

"When did we see you sick?" ask the righteous in the parable of the sheep and goats, to which Jesus responds, "Whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did for me" (Matt. 25: 39-40). How would you respond or how will you respond?

STEWARDSHIP UPDATE

I am like an olive tree flourishing in the house of God; I trust in God's unfailing love for ever and ever. For what you have done I will always praise you in the presence of your faithful people and I will hope in your name for your name is good. (Psalm 52:8-9)

Here we see David's trust and confidence in God even in a time where he was witnessing and enduring great injustice at the hands of Saul and Doeg. As we go through our daily struggles we can be reminded of God's unfailing love and look to his name regardless of the challenges that we face.

As our building is nearing its completion, the need for the proper furnishings will be amplified. For those of you who have been able to contribute to Furnish the Task for furnishing the building we would like to extend our gratitude. If you have not had the opportunity, please take the time to visit the list of many needed items either at the back of the church, or on the church website.

Building Committee Update

“Praise God from whom all blessings flow!” The building addition is beautiful. It is something to be proud of and most of all thankful to God for. The volunteers and construction teams were very busy in February wrapping things up. Thank you to all volunteers who helped and volunteered to help.

Deliveries of furnishings will begin in March. Initially the building will be partially furnished. So, even though the building construction is complete, our work continues to support the ministries planned and being planned for the new addition. Please prayerfully consider participating in the “Furnish the Task” campaign to help provide furnishings that will support the ministries to be delivered using the addition.

Exterior work to complete the project will pick up in the spring. That includes the driveway to Green Road, landscaping, and parking lot. A dedication and open house event is being planned for later summer to allow for remaining work to be completed and some additional furnishings to arrive. Please keep the project and the teams planning and doing the work in your prayers.

If you have questions about the building expansion, please contact a member of the Building committee: Pastor Krause, Jim Fischer, Rod Winter, Scott Ramlow, and Glen Heuer. Want a tour? A member of the building committee can arrange one.

Building and Grounds will meet on Tuesday, March 10 at 6:00 pm in the library. We will be planning a Spring Cleanup Day in late April.

FROM OUR PARISH NURSES

One Text or Call Could Wreck It All

Texting and driving is one of the most dangerous forms of distracted driving. It is a visual, manual and cognitive distraction - all in one. It takes a drivers eyes off the road, hands off the wheel and focus off driving.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA):

- In 2017, 3,166 people were killed in 2,935 distraction-affected crashes, accounting for 9% of all fatal crashes in the U.S.
- Everyday 9 people in the U.S. are killed and more than a 1,000 are injured in crashes involving distracted driving.
- It takes 5 seconds to read or send a text. At 55 mph that's like driving the length of a football field without looking at the road.

While those numbers sound like just statistics, they're anything but. They could be our parents, children, neighbors or friends. We live in a world where people expect instant, real-time information 24 hours a day, and those expectations don't stop just because someone gets behind the wheel.

What can we do?

- Protect lives by never texting or talking on the phone while driving.
- Turn your cell phone on “silent” or turn phone off and put it down where you can't reach it.
- Download an app that prevents you from texting while driving.
- Have passenger text for you.
- Be a good passenger and speak out if the driver in my car is distracted.
- Encourage my friends and family to drive phone-free.

Life is a precious gift of God, the Author of life. The life of every human being is so important that he protects it with the Fifth Commandment, “You shall not murder.” He even sent his only Son to give us his life in order to redeem us from death so we can have eternal life with him. Out of gratitude for his great love, our desire is to protect the lives of others by our behavior so that the time God has given every person to come to know and believe in him is not cut short.

MARCH UPDATE

March 5-6
LCLC Closed

March 29
LCLC Singing in 10:30 am service

The preschool Bible lessons for March reveal the final steps in Jesus' work of redemption. After teaching his disciples and performing many miracles, he entered Jerusalem to face arrest, trial, and the death that paid for the sins of all people. Lambs of Christ children will share that message when they sing, "Do You Know Who Died for Me?" in the 10:30 am church service on Sunday, March 29. Come hear them sing, and you will witness the childlike faith of which Jesus taught: "Whoever takes the lowly position of this child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven." (Matthew 18:4)

Lambs of Christ is undergoing its biennial YoungStar rating this spring. As a YoungStar participant, our preschool is recognized as a high-quality childcare center by parents seeking preschool and childcare. This quality and improvement rating system recognizes achievements in four categories: education of staff, learning environment and curriculum, business and professional practices, and practices that promote children's health and well-being. Maintaining the YoungStar rating helps us to present Christ's gospel message in an advantageous setting.

Lambs of Christ operates through the summer months with a Summer Camp from June 15 through August 21, for children 2 - 5 years old. All children are welcome whether they have attended Lambs of Christ before or not. For additional information about Summer Camp, contact the preschool at 262-691-0720, ext. 110, or lclc@christpewaukee.org.
